It is an ancient and widespread custom for the firstborn to fast on the day before Passover commemorating the miracle which spared them from the plague that struck down the Egyptian firstborn.

This fast is treated leniently.

Thus, if there is a festive meal that relates to a mitzvah (for example the completion of a tractate of the Talmud), the firstborn participates in the meal rather than fasting.

With this in mind—all Beth Shalom firstborn are invited to join us for services and a siyyum (celebration) as we complete a tractate of Talmud.

FRIDAY, APRIL 19, 2019 6:45 AM SERVICES & BREAKFAST | ROOM 108-109

This siyyum is sponsored by Arnold & Joan Kort, in memory of their beloved father, Sidney Kort, z"l. and Michael & Laurel Rogovein, in memory of their beloved father, Thomas Rogovein, z"l.
Arnold and Michael recall fondly how they accompanied their fathers for many years to the Beth Shalom siyyum.

It is their hope that in sponsoring this breakfast, the next generation will continue this tradition.

Passover as a time for Self-Reflection

Annie and I love the artist David Moss.

We met him the year that we met as university students in Jerusalem, and love his artwork. His monumental work on the Haggadah is one of the most artistically significant illuminated Haggadot to be released in centuries. One of our favorite pages has alternating oval portraits of Jewish faces spanning centuries and small oval mirrors. The effect of opening and closing has the faces looking at themselves in the mirror. However, when the book is open, the mirror pieces show pieces of the reader's reflection.

This page centers around the essential phrase of the night of Seder: In every generation, each person must see him or herself as if personally taken out of Egypt.

This one phrase contains the entire essence of the Haggadah. It reminds us why we tell and retell the Passover story each year. It speaks to the passing on of tradition from one generation to another.

I would like to suggest that this phrase should be read slowly, and pause before you get to the end.

What if we simply read: "In every generation each person must see him or herself."

At the high holidays, I posed the question: "What is your why?" It is an existential question, and it also speaks to the "why's" of every spark within Jewish living.

Pesach is the halfway point between Rosh HaShanah and Rosh HaShanah. It is time for us to check in with ourselves. How are we doing on our resolutions? Am I becoming the person I thought was possible in Tishrei? What more work do I have to do?

Also, to address the real issues of servitude and freedom, we must be able to see ourselves. In what way do we allow ourselves to become agents of freedom and redemption?

Passover Seder, at its core, is a night of questions. Seders can be fun and uproarious. They can be goofy and silly. There can be song, food, and joy. However, also allow it to be a time to truly see yourself and ask yourself the questions beyond "Why is this night different from all other nights?"

April is a Time to Remember

by HAZZAN TAHL BEN-YEHUDA
hazzantby@bethshalomkc.org

For those of us who grew up in the Northeast or the Midwest, by April the earth has thawed out and nature starts to green up. Pesach, our holiday of spring, is on our minds—we are planning food and family time.

We recall our people's Exodus from Egypt—the moment when our history as a nation truly began. It is the time of remembering our beginnings, our slavery, leaving Egypt, and learning to be a unified people.

Here in Overland Park, April is also a time of remembering. On April 13, 2014, our sense of security was deeply shaken when a man armed with hate and bullets came to the JCC and Village Shalom seeking to kill and harm Jews and others who are not like him. Tragically, he succeeded in taking the lives of three innocent people who, indeed, were nothing like him. In response to the violence and hatred that caused this tragedy, SevenDays Make a Ripple, Change the World will host a week of interfaith activities April 9-15.

This organization encourages and enables you to embrace diversity across race, religion and culture. As Jews, we are charged to be an or la'goyim, a light to the other peoples of the world. SevenDays is one way we can do that. I encourage you to fight evil with acts of kindness. Please consider visiting givesevendays.org to register or volunteer for events.

Life Lesson 19:

"Of course I talk to myself; sometimes I need an expert opinion."

This quote by Anonymous, an author I often look to for inspiration, explains a serious malady many people suffer from. It is an ailment often caused by hubris and our inability to admit we don't have all the answers. Many of us believe asking for help is a sign of weakness, when in reality it is a sign of strength.

None of us is as smart as all of us. We all have certain talents and skills. But, we need to recognize others have talents as well, talents that can help us do our jobs better and possibly improve our lives. I recognize my strengths, but I frequently call upon others to assist in those areas I am weak.

We may be weak at accounting, math, mechanics, administration, organization, computers, management, or a host of other skills necessary for us to succeed.

If you excel in some of these or other areas, put yourself out there as mentor. If you are deficient in any of these or other areas, ask someone with these skills for help. None of us is perfect. From time to time, all of us need someone to bounce ideas off. Even with advice, we will still be wrong; we will fail. But, at least we will have the knowledge that we did everything we could to ensure success, and will pick ourselves up and move forward.

Of course, we can always fail on our own. We can always be afraid to ask for help because people might think we are not qualified for our position. We can always find someone else or something else to blame for our failures. After all, we didn't need outside advice; we already asked an expert.

Sharing Pesach Holiday Traditions

by JUDY JACKS BERMAN | DIRECTOR
jjb@bethshalomkc.org | 913-647-7287

Suggestions of ways to make Pesach a memorable holiday for your preschool child or grandchild:

- If your child made Passover items in preschool, make sure you incorporate everything they made into your Seder and let the guests know what your child made.
- Have your child help make place cards, wash parsley and put it on the table, they can help peel eggs, make salt water and break off the ends of asparagus. If you are making matzah kugel they can break up the matzah for you.
- The more your child helps and is a part of the preparation, the more connected they will be to the Seder.
- During the Seder, use either the Haggadah your child made in preschool or a child friendly Haggadah.

- Have the children come up with questions of their own after the 4 questions are recited.
- Include all the songs your child learned in preschool.
- Act out parts of the story about Moses and the Jews leaving Egypt. Try to include physical activity here. Have the children dance when crossing the Red Sea, holding up two pieces of fabric to represent the parting of the sea.
- Add toys for the plagues like plastic frogs and cotton balls for hail.

If you have found other ways to make Pesach great for little ones, please send me an email so I can share your ideas in the future.

Have a wonderful Pesach!

Thoughts on Pesach

by JASON KRAKOW | EXECUTIVE VICE PRESIDENT & VICE PRESIDENT, RITUAL

Pesach is coming—the most widely observed holiday in the Jewish world—and it is largely observed by most people outside of Synagogues. So, why so much attention around this holiday from the Synagogue? Of course, the story of Pesach is the story of our people. So, naturally, the Synagogue is a place where we live this narrative every day throughout the year.

Beth Shalom is a place where we can learn of the Exodus and what it means to us at every stage of life—from early childhood in the warm and loving educational RFECEC and with family programming like Tot Shabbat; in school age years with the talented teachers in the Polsky Religious School; in the teen years with our engaged USY program; and on through adulthood with our exceptional clergy at services and through educational programs like Talmud Jam and The Sarah Petzman Adult Education Classes.

Seders at home, where we retell the story in our own ways and with our own unique traditions; where we enjoy time with friends and family are made richer because of the foundations that are laid throughout the year at Beth Shalom.

Can you imagine a Passover Seder where no one at the table had any basic understanding of our story? How empty that Seder might be.

How fortunate are we that our Seders will be filled with the joy of the holiday because we all have a little something we learned along the way in the sanctuary, classrooms, and hallways at Beth Shalom.

To that, I say Chag Kasher v'Sameach, and always, a L'Chaim—it's worth a 5th glass on behalf of Beth Shalom!

Shira Wajcman Receives Leadership Recognition Award

Shira Wajcman was unanimously selected as the 2018-2019 Beth Shalom Sisterhood Past Presidents' Leadership Recognition Award Honoree. This award will be presented at the Torah Fund luncheon on April 24. The Past Presidents have inspired and motivated many women into assuming leadership responsibilities. The award was established in 1989.

Shira is a native of Kansas City, a lifelong Beth Shalom member and also graduated from its nursery school. She graduated from the Hyman Brand Hebrew Academy and has a Bachelor's Degree in Communications from the University of Kansas. She grew up with family members very active in synagogue life at Beth Shalom and follows in their footsteps in her own way. Since her Bat Mitzvah, Shira has been an involved volunteer for many years in the corp of volunteer Torah readers, Haftarah readers and service leaders for Congregation Beth Shalom. She has been tutoring Bar and Bat Mitzvah students for Congregation Beth Shalom since she was a teenager. Shira is also an active volunteer in Beth Shalom Sisterhood. She has been financial secretary, and is currently treasurer and is slated to be the next President of Sisterhood. Shira works at Stephen P. Maslan & Company (an engineering company) as an administrative assistant and metal building designer. Recently, Shira received the honor of organizing the gabbayim for Saturday morning services and holidays. She is also helping out at Beth Shalom Hebrew School during this school year. She just became a Tiger den leader for Cub Scout Pack 3153. Shira was married to Michael Wajcman until his passing in 2011 and has three children, Jeremiah, Samantha and Eitan.

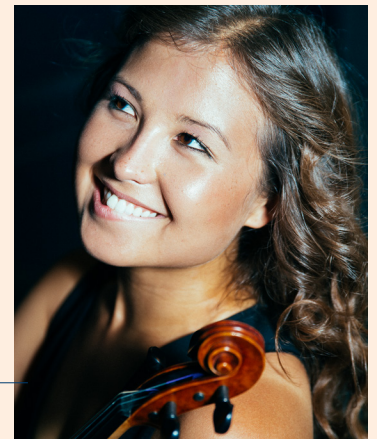

Along with receiving a lovely certificate, Shira will attend the IntraContinental Conference in Dallas in May.

The 76th Annual Torah Fund Luncheon

Everyone is invited to join Sisterhood on April 24 to celebrate the success of our 76th annual Torah Fund campaign and enjoy a delicious Passover luncheon catered by Chef Steve Ellenberg.

Hors d'oeuvres and wine begin at 11:00 am in the Grand Hall followed by lunch at 11:30 am in Goldsmith Hall.

Beth Shalom Sisterhood Past Presidents' Leadership Recognition Award will be presented to Shira Wajcman. The afternoon's entertainment will be provided by Coleen Dieker, a Kansas City native and alumna of Berklee College of Music.

COLEEN DIEKER

She plays piano, violin, and was a busking fiddler. Invitations have been mailed. Guests are welcome. Both reservations and donations (including previous pledges) are due by April 8 in order for contributor names to be included in the program. Checks should be made payable to Torah Fund.

Torah Fund luncheon chair is Cathy Newman. For more information contact Cathy at 913-814-7404.

Community Programs

Community Second Night of Passover Seder

A community second night of Passover Seder will be offered on April 20 and hosted by Congregation Ohev Sholom.

The Seder is an opportunity for family and friends to come together as a community for the telling of the Passover story—to reflect on our past and look forward to a future of freedom and liberation for all people throughout the world.

The Seder will be led by Rabbi Scott and Civia White. Through engaging stories, song and discussion, we will retell the story of the Exodus, Crossing the Sea, the story of our people's journey from slavery to freedom and remember those around the world who struggle with injustice every day.

A traditional kosher-for-Passover Seder meal will be prepared by Kosher Connection under supervision of the Vaad Hakashrut of Kansas City and served under the supervision of Rabbi White.

The community Seder is sponsored by the Rabbinical Association of Greater Kansas City and Jewish Family Services and funded in part by the Flo Harris Foundation of the Jewish Community Foundation of Greater Kansas City and supported by congregations.

Advance reservations are mandatory and must be received by April 10; fees increase after that date.

Registration online at rabbiskc.ticketspice.com/passover or forms are available at kcrabbis.org or can be picked up at area congregations. For information or to inquire about confidential financial assistance, contact Annette Fish, Administrator/Program Director, Rabbinical Association by email, afprogram@aol.com or call 913-327-4622.

Parashat HaShavua is an ongoing, monthly program taking place every third Shabbat of the month at 9:00 am in the conference room. The goal of this program is to engage its participants in a stimulating discussion of the weekly Torah portion in a friendly atmosphere, where the difference of opinions is respected and questions are encouraged.

The next session will take place on April 20 is Pesach I. Details on the April Parashat Hashavua will be announced in a CBS eblast. An informal atmosphere and deep level of discussion are the trademarks of this gathering. No prior experience is required, and everybody is welcome to join.
