Jerusalem: Embrace the Complexities

This month on the English calendar (and at the end of May on the Hebrew calendar), we commemorate the fiftieth anniversary of the reunification of Jerusalem during the Six-Day War. My column is based on remarks that I made on Shabbat Behar-B'hukotai on the Shabbat before Yom Yerushalayim (the day on the Hebrew calendar that commemorates Yom Yerushalayim this year falls right after Parashat Behar-B'hukotai.) This is interesting since the Torah portion gives us the laws about the Jubilee year, and this year is the Jubilee year since the Israeli victory of the 1967 Six-Day War.

For many in our congregation it may be hard to believe, but for those who are under 55, there is simply no recollection of the anxiety that was felt in the months leading up to the Six-Day war. I am forty-four, and for my contemporaries, we have never known a time when Israel did not rule over Gaza and the West Bank/Judea and Samaria. For those who are younger than thirty-five, they have never known of a time before the Intafada. For those who are younger than twenty-five, they have never known Israel before the stalled peace process of Oslo.

There are many excellent books written about the significance of 1967. Ambassador Michael Oren wrote Six Days of War, a more progressive (and some would say revisionist history) is Tom Segev's 1967. A more recent book is the excellent, Like Dreamers by Yossi Klein HaLevi which traces the life of the paratroopers who liberated the Western Wall.

It is impossible to minimize the instant transformation of Israel that took place with this war. In the blink of an eye, Israel had political sovereignty over Judaism's holiest sites. Israel suddenly ruled over areas in Judea and Samaria where Jews had lived for millennia but were free of all Jews from 1948-1967. Also, with 1967, Israel suddenly had military jurisdiction over an entire population of Palestinian Arab people that still today are not citizens of Israel, not citizens of Jordan, and the Palestinian Authority is not a full political, sovereign state.

There are complexities upon complexities, and I do not know what an end game to the peace process with the Israelis and Palestinians will look like. Eternally, having military rule over millions of Palestinian people does not seem to me to be a long-term, tenable status for Israel. Returning to a time when Jews don't have access to our own religious sites like the Tomb of Rachel, the Tomb of Jacob, the Tomb of the Patriarchs and the Western Wall is also not tenable.

We, as Jews who have chosen to live in the diaspora, cannot afford to put our heads in the sand. We cannot afford to ignore the incredible redemption, nor the incredible challenges that have come through these past fifty years. We cannot avoid the complexities, nor can we ignore the importance of Jerusalem.

Perhaps, though, there are ways to peace that have not been tried. Perhaps there are ways to allow this year to truly be a Jubilee. So, as a vision of hope, I turn to the words of the Torah portion leading up to Yom Yerushalayim with the prayer that this can be a Jubilee for Israelis, a Jubilee for Palestinians and a Jubilee for Jews throughout the world.

"You shall hallow the fiftieth year. You shall proclaim release throughout the land for all its inhabitants. It shall be a jubilee for you."
(Leviticus 25:10)

Parashat Hashavua

Parashat Hashavua is an ongoing, monthly program taking place every third Shabbat of the month at 9:00 am in the conference room. The goal of this program is to engage its participants in a stimulating discussion of the weekly torah portion in a friendly atmosphere, where the difference of opinions is respected and questions are encouraged.

The next session will take place on June 17, when Parashat Sh'lach will be discussed. Informal atmosphere and deep level of discussion are the trademarks of this gathering. No prior experience is required, and everybody is welcome to join.

For more information, contact Svetlana Sorkin at 913-393-1715 or saraliorasedu@hotmail.com.

Executively Speaking

Performing a Special Mitzvah

For more than thirty years, I had lunch with my father once a week, usually on Friday. Typically, the conversation was men talk: sports, politics, business, family, etc. But there were memorable exceptions. Some years ago, I thanked him for some thing or other he had done for me, told him how much I appreciated him, and asked if there was anything I could do for him. I didn't really expect him to respond, but he immediately said I could say Kaddish for him. I didn't realize it at the time, but his request was really a gift to me.

As I write this article, I have less than three months left in aveylut, the period of mourning lasting eleven months (less a day) after the death of a parent. In that time, I've attended morning services almost every day, at Village Shalom and elsewhere when I travel. It's not always easy to get out of the house a half hour earlier than I used to so that I can drive in the opposite direction of my office to go to minyan. But when I get to Village Shalom (or to Beth Shalom on Shabbat and Sunday morning), I am warmed by the faces I see. Some people are at minyan because they are also saying Kaddish and some because it's part of their daily practice, but many are there just to help make a minyan. We're taught that saying Kaddish for a loved one is a special mitzvah because that person can't do anything for you in return. Surely the same is true for those who—just by their presence—enable me to recite this prayer. Each person present not only helps me fulfill the mitzvah, but also helps me heal from the loss of my dear father. When my wife Diane finished this process, she committed to attending one day a week. I expect to do the same.

So if you who don't need to say Kaddish for a loved one, one way to express gratitude for your good fortune is by attending minyan. Just go to bethshalomkc.org, click on the minyanmaker tab, and sign up. You'll be glad you did.

Arthur Federman

Executive Vice President

Morning Minyan at Village Shalom

A few years ago, we began keeping track of the Hebrew names of those who were called to the Torah at morning minyan at Village Shalom, so that should they return, we might respect them by calling them by their Hebrew names. On any given day, we may have 10-15 worshipers at morning minyan. Some are regulars, some are there for a yahrtzeit, some are actively fulfilling their year of mourning, and occasionally we have B'nai Mitzvah who are called to the Torah in the first fulfillment of the age of mitzvot. Recently we were pleased, and somewhat surprised, to recognize that there are now more than 130 names on the list of those who have been called to the Torah. It appears that this small mitzvah is an important part of our congregational life for many more people than we realized. If it moves you to do so, you will be welcome to come and add your name to that growing list.

Become a Sisterhood Link

Come find your "niche" in CBS's Sisterhood. We have a spot waiting just for you! Whether you want to explore new ideas, try leadership positions, become one of our very important "worker bees" or just come to have fun, we want YOU to join us and become active!

Becoming president is a daunting task but with the active participation of the 36 people in my administration, I know we will accomplish many worthwhile things. I refer to these people as my unique "jewels". When they are linked together, they create a strong, beautiful, and one-of-a-kind necklace. When our members are linked together, we can also create something strong and enduring which can help improve ourselves, the synagogue and our community. Come be a part of something great!

Awesome Summer Camp

Our Summer Camp 2017 enrollment is full, and our campers are going to have an awesome time. Our theme this summer is What a Wonderful World We Are All a Part Of!

Our world is wonderful because of our kids, their families, their community as well as our physical world. Highlights include: Bounce to the Moon water slide, Percussion Magic, a petting zoo and a concert.

For our campers entering kindergarten this fall the theme will be STEAM (Science, Technology, Engineering Arts and Mathematics). These topics will play important roles in each day's activities! The campers will prepare for a bake sale and will choose the charity or charities they want the money to go to, make signage, plan and bake all the goodies, price them, sell them and then donate the money! The children will learn so much from these experiences!

During the first half of second session of STEAM, the children will be engineers and architects building and creating structures out of boxes. During the second half of the STEAM session, the children will go on nature scavenger hunts looking for treasures and journaling about their adventures!

Our campers will learn and have a fun and fulfilling summer.

Polsky Religious School

A Look Back...

Shalom, Shalom, u'lehitra'ot! This is a common Israeli declaration when leaving a person for a while whom you hope you will see again. It's the perfect declaration for the end of a school year, both for all our kids and teachers, but most of all, for those close to us who will not be returning in the fall. I would translate it these days as "peace out and hope to see you soon!" I far prefer this idea to "goodbye." It is therefore with a few tears, but much joy in looking forward to the next time we see you that we wish a farewell to long time madricha and teacher Alexis Davis.

Alexis worked with the PRS kindergarten class for five years, and we wish her the very best as she leaves for college.

PRS benefitted deeply this year from a generous grant from the Polsky Family Foundation, as well as from several generous anonymous donations that assisted our students, their families and our faculty. Our walls were made more beautiful with up-to-date bulletin boards. Our art room was reorganized and restocked. Tablets and a new projector were purchased for the middle school grades for use in Hebrew as well as Judaica lessons.

One of the new initiatives that most benefitted the school and the Beth Shalom community at large provided for weekly free Sunday morning breakfast, and three heavily subsidized meals designed to bring our entire community together on Shabbat or on a holiday, the Gesher meals. We all joke that Jews are all about food, but in truth, all people are all about food, and eating together weekly and on Shabbat and holidays brings us closer together.

I look forward to seeing PRS families again at 1:00 on August 20th at the PRS Open House. I look forward to sharing many meals with you in the coming year and can't wait to learn with you and your kids! Shalom, Shalom, u'lehitra'ot!
Have a great summer!

Boy Scout “Ten Commandments Trek” Kicked-Off at CBS

Recently, more than sixty Cub Scouts, Boy Scouts, Venturers, adult leaders and parents of Heart of America Council, Boy Scouts of America gathered at CBS to begin their day-long “Ten Commandments Trek.” After joining morning minyan, the Scouts learned the first two Commandments from Rabbi Glickman, our Senior Rabbi, who also showed them where in the Torah Scroll the Ten Commandments are found.

Throughout the day, the Scouts went to four more houses of worship in Kansas City, learning about two of the Ten Commandments at each stop. Included were stops at Catholic, Muslim, Mormon and Methodist houses of worship. The purpose of the Trek was to fulfill “Duty to God” in the Scout Oath, and the twelfth point of the Scout Law, “Reverence.” At the same time, the Scouts experienced the message that each of the “Abrahamic faiths” shares a common ancestry and history. There may be no better symbol of this important commonality than the Ten Commandments, brought to us by Judaism.

Kansas City’s Chai Lifeline’s Project Chai, the Trauma and Crisis Intervention team, is available to provide brief intervention and follow-up as volunteer first responders for those directly affected by the trauma, their families, and individuals who may have witnessed the event.

The team is comprised of local volunteers who are trained as first responders when crisis or loss occurs. Team members are able to help those affected to process psychological, spiritual, cultural, interpersonal and existential aspects of reacting to trauma. Team members have the skills to work with those afflicted with personal loss, large scale tragedies, unexpected catastrophic events and natural disasters.
