Officer & Board Nominations

by ART FEDERMAN

The bylaws committee, chaired by Steve Feinstein, and including Norman Kahn Jr, Ann Karty and Linda Lessner, has revised and updated our bylaws. Changes include updating the mission statement, clarifying the rights of associate members, providing that each adult Jewish member of a family may vote on Congregational matters, and clarifying to which officer standing committees report. The proposed bylaws also provide for a Vice-President of Programming, and that one of the three Vice-Presidents is to be designated as Executive Vice-President. The full proposed bylaws may be accessed here, <http://bethshalomkc.org/wp-content/uploads/2016/04/Beth-Shalom-Bylaws-revision-032718.docx.pdf>, or may be viewed in the Synagogue office.

The following people have been nominated for Board of Director positions. Elections will take place at our Annual Meeting to be held on Sunday, June 10.

Immediate Past-President: Richard Simon

President: Art Federman

Executive Vice-President: Jason Krakow

Treasurer: Miles Ross

Secretary: Harold Kaseff

VP Education: Victor Wishna

VP Ritual: Jason Krakow

VP Programming: Ann Karty

Nominees for Board of Directors - Term Ending 2021

Staci Kahn

Eric Schultz

Josh Sosland

Board Members for re-election in June 2018 for a second three-year term: 2021 (5 to be re-elected):

Steve Feinstein

Ed Meltzer

Chuck Gasser

Victor Wishna

Rachel Krantz

The nominating committee, ably chaired by Past President Norman Kahn Jr, has submitted a slate of officers to be voted on at the annual meeting on June 10. Rather than forming a PAC to solicit your vote for this slate, we are setting forth the backgrounds of the nominated officers. They are a highly qualified group, with deep ties to Beth Shalom and our Jewish community. We will continue to seek the advice and counsel of Richard Simon, who will remain on the Executive Committee as immediate Past President.

Commitment to synagogue life is ingrained in Jason. His grandparents, parents, aunts, uncles and cousins all took on and continue to take on leadership roles in various shuls. CBS has been his family's spiritual and communal Jewish home since his and Andrea's children arrived at the Rose Family ECEC. Jason currently serves as Board Chair/President of JCRB/AJC. Professionally, he is President of apparel companies DRI-DUCK and Caps Direct, based in Overland Park.

Jason Krakow

Executive & Ritual
Vice-President

Victor Wishna

Education
Vice-President

From religious school through USY, Victor grew up at CBS, where he was able to observe his parents, Sheldon, z"l and Jeannette, z"l Wishna in any number of leadership roles, including his father as Men's Club President, and his mother as President of the Congregation. Today, he and his wife Annie have a daughter at Polsky Religious School and a son at Rose Family ECEC, where he co-chairs the parent committee. He also serves on the Federation's allocations committee. In between, Vic works as a writer, editor, playwright, commentator, storyteller and more.

Ann Karty

Programming
Vice-President

This is a new position, intended to provide new direction to a wide variety of programming opportunities at our synagogue. Ann is a family physician with more than 24 years as an academic, administrator and, currently, as medical director of an insurance plan. This month, she's also being awarded an MBA. In addition to serving on the CBS board, Ann has held a number of leadership positions in Hadassah, both locally and nationally. Ann is married to Billy Silverman. Their three children, all of whom have attended Polsky Religious School, are at least the fourth generation of their family to have been part of the Beth Shalom family.

Harold is a Past President of Ohev Sholom. With the encouragement of his wife, Rhea Salasche, he has thrown himself into the life of Beth Shalom, taking on leadership roles for several fundraisers, the Kiddish Corps (which serves lunch after most Shabbat services), and currently as President of the Beth Shalom Foundation. Professionally, he has been a hospital administrator and currently is a physician consultant.

Harold Kaseff

Secretary

Miles Ross

Treasurer

Miles and his three sons are graduates of Rose Family ECEC and Polsky Religious School. He and his wife Sally also have two granddaughters who are fifth generation members attending school at CBS. He has served on the finance, membership, scholarship and lechem committees, and is a frequent Torah reader. Miles has chaired the AEPi Fraternity Alumni Board at Mizzou for several decades and volunteers for AARP, preparing tax returns for low-income individuals. He was previously a CPA and partner at CBIZ MHM for 30 years, leading a subsidiary that provided health savings accounts.

My wife Diane and I joined Beth Shalom more than twenty years ago. She grew up at Ohev Sholom, and I at Kehilath Israel, where my father served as President, and my mother as Sisterhood President. We have found a home here, and I am committed to helping our members feel just as much at home. I previously served as President of the Midwest Center for Holocaust Education, Vice-President for Allocations of Jewish Federation, and on various other boards in our community. At Beth Shalom, I chaired the Ritual Committee, have served as a Vice President, and am a Torah reader. Professionally, I worked as a trial and bankruptcy attorney for ten years before being appointed as a United States Bankruptcy Judge, a position I held until my retirement this past year.

Art Federman

President

As a group, we look forward to working with our talented and dynamic clergy, to listening to our members and to supporting your Jewish lives.

Counting the Omer: Counting our Days

From the night of the Second Seder until the beginning of the festival of Shavuot, there is a mitzvah to count the omer. An “omer” is a measurement of grain, and the Biblical and agricultural roots of this mitzvah are found in the counting of the days and the weeks of the annual barley harvest. We count for a total of 49 days – seven weeks.

As with many of our celebrations whose Biblical roots are agricultural, there are other layers of meaning that the ritual acquires throughout the ages. From the earliest rabbinic sources, Shavuot is recognized as the celebration of the day when God gave the Jewish people the Torah. So, the counting of the omer gains an additional resonance: marking the sacred time between redemption from Egypt to God’s revelation at Sinai.

In the decades after the destruction of the Temple, the time period came to contain a period of quasi-mourning because of the calamity that befell Rabbi Akiba’s students. This is why we refrain from Jewish weddings and other public celebrations until the 33rd day of this counting (The festival of Lag B’Omer).

This year, though, I learned a profound teaching from Rabbi Jill Hammer’s book, The Jewish Book of Days, which we read each morning in our daily minyan at Village Shalom. She quotes a teaching from the midrashic work Genesis Rabbah. In this passage, the rabbis debate whether the world was created during the Hebrew month of Nisan or the Hebrew month of Tishrei. This midrash writes, “The one who says that the world was created in Nisan holds that Abel lived from Passover to Shavuot.”

Though I had learned about the ancient rabbinic debate as to whether the world was created in Nisan or Tishrei, I had never before learned about how this could correspond to the length of Abel’s days.

Rabbi Hammer writes in her book that the midrash “imagines Abel has a mythically short life; Like a frail blossom, he is born, grows up, and dies in the course of seven weeks.”

The contrast is incredible. If we understand the Omer counting from the perspective of the giving of the Torah, we see this seven-week time as going from slavery to standing in the presence of God receiving the most vital wisdom in history directly from the Divine. If we understand the Omer counting from the perspective of Abel’s life, we see the seven-week time as an entire life on fast forward. From one of the first two humans born of a mother, to being the first victim of murder – killed by one’s own brother.

To understand this fragile time period is to recognize that all of our lives hang in a balance. We can look forward to God’s revelation, or we can see our whole life be lost. Rabbi Hammer concludes her essay with the words, “We look at Abel and learn to number our days.”

The Torah’s mitzvot – such as counting the Omer – are not simply to turn us into automatons, but rather to give us the most human awareness that our days are limited and we must choose how to create meaning in each one.

Life Lesson 8: You've Got a Friend

Talk show icon, Jack Paar, once told the story of reading that a person is lucky to have two true friends in his life. He dismissed that hypothesis because he had “millions of friends”. Some time later, Paar found himself in the hospital. Besides family, he was visited by one person. He said he was still looking for his second friend.

We tend to use the term friend loosely. “There is nothing on this earth to be prized more than true friendship” (Thomas Aquinas). Acquaintances are people you like seeing, but with whom you may not share your innermost thoughts. Relationships with Facebook friends are usually superficial, at best. Good friends are people you trust, but may only be there in the good times. They will listen to you, but may not offer honest advice. They will tell you what you want to hear.

True friends are there for you through the good times and bad. They won't tell you what you want to hear; they will tell you what you have to hear. When everyone else is walking away, they will be the ones coming to you. They will always be there for you, whether you want them there or not. They are a rare breed. They are your true friends. As French poet Jean de La Fontaine said, “Rare as is true love, true friendship is rarer.”

It is said that true friends are hard to find, harder to leave, and impossible to forget. According to British clergyman and author Thomas Fuller, “If you have one true friend, you have more than your share”. Some of us may go through life without ever finding that one true friend. Until we do, we will never understand the joy they can bring into our lives.

You can't advertise for a true friend. No one can apply for the job. Searching for one is useless. However, that true friend is out there. Maybe you are one of the fortunate ones whose true friend has found you. If not, maybe you two will soon meet. As author Mandy Hale wrote, “Two things you will never have to chase: true love and true friends”. They will find you.

Quoting that old Jewish proverb, “Who finds a faithful friend, finds a treasure”.

by HAZZAN TAHL BEN-YEHUDA

hazzantby@bethshalomkc.org

May is a hopeful month in its position between spring and summer. This year, though, May is bittersweet for me personally, as I prepare for my oldest child to graduate high school and leave home for the big adventure of adult life. I am about to join the ranks of so many of you who have launched a child into the next chapter of his or her life.

To view this launch through a Jewish lens, it is the rise of the next generation, the hope and the promise that echoes throughout our liturgy and even our songbook – m'dor l'dor, from generation to generation – seedlings turning overnight to sunflowers, blossoming even as we gaze.

As we attend the graduations, we reminisce about their childhoods and wonder where their lives will take them. We become introspective about our parenting – did we give them enough of the knowledge, strength and the resources they will need as they face their world with their newfound independence?

The v'ahavta, the second paragraph of the Shema (Deut 6:5-9), instructs us to teach our children the Mitzvot of the Torah and about our relationship with God. So we send our kids to Hebrew School or to Day School, we engage in Jewish life at home and at shul, and we teach our children how to be mensches – how to be thoughtful and kind in the world. And as May brings its blessings of hope and fullness in the blossoming of spring into summer, so too, we hope for the blessings of hope and fullness of life for our children, whether graduating from high school, from college, or just in the excitement of summer break.

Mazal tov to all of our graduating seniors, and to all of us parents who are so happy/sad to watch them march across that stage.

An A-Z List of Summer Fun with your Child(ren)

by JUDY JACKS BERMAN

Director

jjb@bethshalomkc.org | 913-647-7287

Summer is just around the corner and you might already be in the throes of making plans for your children. Some camps might be in place, vacations on the horizon. But let's be honest- the time when school ends for one year and begins for another is over 12 weeks. There will be plenty of down time when you will be looking for some things to do around the KC area. We have compiled a list from A-M of places to go and activities to do that are either FREE or will not cost much. Make some memories this summer- our children won't be young forever. Watch for letters N-Z in the June Scroll.

Art projects. You don't need a cabinet stocked of glittery supplies - be creative and let your children's imagination take over.

Hike - to make your hike more interesting, come up with a list of things to look for and have your child cross them off as he finds them.

Bowling. Pinstripes has bowling every weekday from 10:00 am - 12:00 pm for $3 per hour and $3 shoe rental. Or Google Kids Bowl Free and you can sign up for free bowling around the area.

Ice cream - go out for ice cream, stop the ice cream truck, or Google a recipe to make your own ice cream. Summer always screams ice cream!

Carwash - give your children a bucket of soapy water and some sponges and let them wash your car. They can also wash their own toy cars. Hours of entertainment!

Johnson County Museum - they have an amazing Kidscape area which offers hours of imaginative play. If you think you'll go at least three times, it's worth buying a membership.

Deanna Rose - buy a membership for $35 which gets you into the park free and includes other free bonuses.

Kaleidoscope - look online for special art times. This is always FREE!

Eat out. Many life skills can be learned by taking your children out to eat.

Library - have your child pick up a reading log at the beginning of the summer. Bring it back complete and choose a FREE book to keep.

Fire station - Visit a fire station. They will give you a tour and let your children explore their trucks. Even better, bring homemade cards or treats as a gift for the firefighters.

Movies - look for those summer movie passes and bring snacks from home to save $.

Gym time - Many places offer Open Gym around the metro for a few dollars per child.

Spring Installation Luncheon

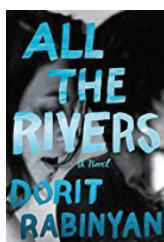

Beth Shalom Sisterhood's May 15 Spring Installation luncheon will be held at Congregation Beth Shalom beginning at 11:30 am. An interfaith program led by Sheila Sonnenschein will be featured. Women from the Buddhist, Hindu and Sikh faiths will speak on spirituality and customs.

Sheila will lead the group discussion with a "Q and A" to follow.

Sheila was Past President of the Interfaith Council and is still very active. She is greatly respected for her work and arranges many programs throughout the city. The cost for the luncheon is $20 for Beth Shalom Sisterhood members; $23 for non-members. Your check is your reservation. Checks should be made payable to Beth Shalom Sisterhood and mailed to Ellen Soltz, 6201 W. 127 Ter., Overland Park, KS 66209. Reservation deadline is May 8. Any questions, contact Ellen Soltz at 816-217-6981.

Sisterhood Book Club Meets June 13

Sisterhood Book Club will meet on Wednesday, June 13 at 7:00 pm at the home of Sylvie Radvinsky. The Club will discuss "All the Rivers" by Dorit Rabinyan.

"A controversial, award-winning story about the passionate but untenable affair between an Israeli woman and a Palestinian man. 'All The Rivers' is a powerful, deeply intimate Romeo and Juliet story for our times."

Prior to the discussion of the June book, suggestions for the coming fiscal year will be discussed and selections made. Names of books to be considered should be emailed to Linda Lessner by mid-May.

For more details or to attend, contact Linda Lessner at 913-897-0122 or at llessner@kc.rr.com.

Sisterhood Nominating Committee

The Beth Shalom Sisterhood Nominating Committee has nominated the following women to be nominated for a three-year term on the Board of Directors: Teri Herman, Donna Katz, Joyce Shapiro, Nata Scharf and Dini Freed. Amy Schultz for a two-year term and for a one-year term Meg Adler, Linda Bell, Sylvie Radvinsky.

The Nominating Committee consisted of Wendy Malyn, Ellen Soltz, Dini Freed, Sylvie Radvinsky, Phyllis Abrams, Naomi Kauffman, Amy Schultz, Beverly Newman (Parliamentarian) and Berenice Haberman (Chair). Election of these nominees took place at the Torah Fund Luncheon, April 5, and they will be installed on May 15 at the Spring Luncheon.

Parashat HaShavua For more information, contact Svetlana Sorkin at 913-393-1715 or saraliorasedu@hotmail.com.

Parashat HaShavua is an ongoing, monthly program taking place every third Shabbat of the month at 9:00 am in the conference room. The goal of this program is to engage its participants in a stimulating discussion of the weekly torah portion in a friendly atmosphere, where the difference of opinions is respected and questions are encouraged.

The next session will take place on May 19, when PARASHAT BAMIDBAR will be discussed. An informal atmosphere and deep level of discussion are the trademarks of this gathering. No prior experience is required, and everybody is welcome to join.
